

“

I want to continue to get involved and reach out to my community to make a positive impact, especially during these odd times thanks to the pandemic.

My drive and motivation have even more purpose now that I have my six-month-old baby girl in the picture. I want to be a strong role model for her. I want to be able to provide the proper care for her as well as just be able to provide the essentials.

I am prepared to work as hard as I need to in order to make sure both of our needs are met, and that includes sometimes reaching out for some extra help. Despite hardships both personal and worldwide, I am continuing to keep my chin up and do my best each and every day.”
